

Cap compliance, solved here.

- Are you worried if your caps are in compliance with the law? Do they meet the current lead levels? What phthalates are used?

If you purchase them from Tinnerman you won't have to worry, our plastic caps meet or exceed the lead substrate, Phthalates and heavy element levels mandated by the new toy substance laws that went into effect on February 10, 2009.

- We have the third party laboratory tests to prove it.
- We offer many different cap sizes and colors.
- We can even match a current color you use.
- And we have the people to help walk you through the process with ease.
